NAMES OF ENTRANTS IN GIFT DISTRIBUTION TO BE PUBLISHED SATURDAY

Candidates thus far in the Times-Gazette "Everybody Wins Something" free gift distribution will be announced in next Saturday's issue of the Times-Gazette. In order to have your name included in this list your nomination must be into campaign headquarters not later than 9 o'clock Friday night, February 20.

With the first published list of candidates due to be printed Saturday next, irrespective of how many or how few or how little they have accomplished, it behooves every person who has been considering entering this election campaign to get their nomination in right away. You have been "considering" long enough.

In spite of the fact that a wonderful opportunity presents itself in this campaign, candidates who mean business are slow to respond. Strange as it may seem, there are candidates who entered the first day the campaign was announced who have not been heard from at all since. Maybe they went out and "got their ears knocked down" a couple of times and couldn't stand it. They haven't got the "stick-to-iveness" to see anything through.

Don't Be A Quitter

Don't be a quitter or a coward. Don't be beat before you start—in the first days of the campaign. Know you are on even terms now and go out and put your campaign over—make more in the next few weeks in your spare time than most people make in an entire year.

And just a word to you who have been considering entering. The time to enter is at hand now. You start on even terms. There is the 5,000 nomination credits for you, the 20,000 extra credits with your first subscription, the 250,000 extra credits for three 1-year subscriptions or their equivalent secured the first week after you accept the nomination. These are all first period credits now in effect. You get off to a flying start if you take the advantage of what is here for you. Note the credit schedule.

Do a Little Figuring

Get out your pencil. Do a little figuring. Can't you see where it is possible for you to profit in this campaign. You have everything to gain and nothing to lose. You are certain to be paid for what you do and you can make up to $1,385. That's all in your favor, isn't it?

Many a man has fallen down by standing still. There are candidates in this campaign who, though they are entered, have not so much as moved a finger in their own behalf? There are others who went out and didn't bat 100 per cent—somebody turned them down—and they got cold feet and so they have not been heard from. There are some scared before they even start—they are afraid someone else has a lead they could not overcome.

The credits score when it is printed will set some of these at ease. No one has a lead to boast about. No one has gone so far in this campaign that they can truthfully say, "I'm on Easy Street."

Romance In It

There must be a bit of romance in every worth-while achievement, in addition to careful planning, persistent effort and prompt action. The desire to own a big, beautiful car, or one's own home, is founded on romance—an anticipated future. The thought on "one's own" is mighty sweet. The old is of the past, be it the old is Romance past; the new Romance, to come.

Luck is fickle—an imposter. Don't wait for luck to place fortune in your lap. Go out and get what you want. Use life't finest moments to the full. Plan carefully, make persistent effort yourself. Act promptly when Opportunity calls, and Opportunity is calling you today through the Times-Gazette campaign.

Make Start Today

Enter today. Make the start that means more to you for your spare time this next few weeks than the average man makes in an entire year and more than many save in a life-time.

Remember—the first published list of candidates for all districts will be printed Saturday, February 21. In order to be included in that list, no matter who you are or how big you are, you've got to have nominations into campaign headquarters Friday before nine o'clock p. m., February 19. You can telephone it in. Govern yourself accordingly. Let's have no regrets or self-kicks afterwards.

Campaign headuquarters at The Times-Gazette office will be open each night until 9 o'clock. Call in person or telephone up to 9 o'clock Friday night.

SLIGHT SHOCK SHAKES REDWOOD AND VICINITY

A slight tremor aroused many sleepers of this vicinity last Monday morning at 1:06. The shake was of short duration, being one of the so-called "explosive" type, and seems to have been centered near Redwood City. The effects seem to have been most severe in Menlo Park, where several windows were reported to have been broken. No damage was reported here, and only a very slight shake was noticed in San Francisco.

CONGREGATIONAL CHOIR, COMMITTEES ENTERTAIN

The chorous choir, the decoration committe, quartette, and organist of the Congregational church met the church Thursday evening for a little entertainment and social evening. Rev. R. J. Currie acted as master of ceremonies and introduced the speakers who were as follows: Frank B. Swart, C. M. Doxsee, Prof. W. Richards, Dr. J. G. Null, Prof. Otis M. Carrington, Louis Behrens and D. W. Williams.

Special attention was given to Lincoln during the evening and Rev. Currie read a number of anecdotes of the martyred president. Supper was served by the ladies of the church. Special mention is due to Mrs. Dave Moore who planned the affair.

Bonita Parlor N. D. G. W. held a Valentine party Thursday evening. Mrs. Valantine Tuchsen (Hazel Sagesser) was presented with a silver spoon, she being the most recent bride of the parlor. A hand painted plate was presented to Miss Constance Drathman in honor of her birthday.

PLANS IN FORMATION FOR CHRISTMAS TREE

That Redwood City will have a Community Christmas tree next year was the jist of a communication addressed to the Board of Supervisors by the committee which has the affair in hand. Plans are being made early this year for the event which, it is expected, will be even a greater success than the one held last year. The letter to the board was to ask the co-operation of the board in making this event a complete success.

MASONS HONOR MEMORY OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN

As the regular stated meeting of Redwod City Lodge No. 168 F. & A. M. occured on February 12th this year, the meeting was devoted to the memory of the martyred president, whose birthday occured on that date. After the regular business of the lodge had been attended to the members enjoyed an address on Lincoln by Roy W. Cloud.

A novel feature of the entertainment was the delivery of Lincoln's Gettysburgh address, in costume by W. A. Crowell, who gave a truly life like representation of America's great president.

P. G. & E. TO MAKE EXTENSIVE IMPROVEMENTS

Pacific Gas and Electric Company is preparing to expend $24,749 here for additional facilities in their local substation. The work involved calls for the doubling of the capacity of the present transformer installation.

Speaking of this work which will be started before the summer demands come on, W. T. Kellogg, district manager of the company, states that a growth of the territory served and particularly the increased demands for power for pumping purposes necessitates this large expenditure.

Peninsula cities, Kellogg states, are growing very rapidly which is indicated by the fact that during the year just ended there was a gain in the San Jose division of which Redwood City is a part of 8295 new consumers, making an average of approximately 70 per month. Indications are that the growth for 1925 will by far exceed that of 1924, and it is in view of this anticipated growth that we are making additions to our local facilities.

Miss Ruth Doxsee, a student at the University of California, spent the week end at her home here.

SAN CARLOS PHARMACY TO OPEN FOR BUSINESS

Responding to the demand of a constantly growing community for a modern drug store, J. H. Seaton, a pharmacist of wide reputation in the states bordering on the Pacific, has announced the opening of the San Carlos Pharmacy on the Highway. The store is second to none for a community the size it will serve, and the fixtures and all appurtenances are of the latest and most modern design.

After looking over the territory surrounding San Francisco bay, Seaton announced that San Carlos offered the best opening for such a business and the residents of the community, who up to the present time have had no drug store, made strong overtures to him to establish his business in their midst. It was only after convincing himself that the residents of the community were earnest in their desires that Seaton decided to cast his fortunes among them.

The new drug store, located on the main highway, opposite the Southern Pacific station, is the latest word in equipment and fixtures. of the latest design while the opposite side contains attractive show cases. The interior of the store is finished in silver gray and the fixtures and interior of the store blend to a degree pleasing and restful to the eye.

The store will be open Sunday and evenings for the convenience of the public. A rest room for ladies is a feature and a public telephone is available.

Staton, who is in charge of the store, is a graduate of the University of California of the class of 1905 and is a member of the U. C. Alumni Association. He served five years with the Owl and other drug companies in San Francisco and Oakland, after which he went on the road for Eli Lilly & Comapny of Indianapolis. For fifteen years he traveled for that company, covering the territory of Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Utah, Nevada, California, British Columbia and Alaska. He recently resigned to enter business for himself.

Francis, Howard J. Moore, Lee Robert Gambetz, L. G. Monroe. Wm. H. Lyon, L. J. Miller and C. P. Tompkins. The club house of the incorporation is located near Belmont.

WOODSIDE

It is not often that we are treated to the excitement of an earthquake and a thunderstorm in the same week and a simple recital of the fact might prove disconcerting to some prospective immigrants to California. But they were each such mild and innocuous examples of their respective kinds as to obtain their titles rather by courtesy than by merit. The 'shake' of Monday nigh was like the gentle rocking of an infant's cradle and to one who has been accustomed to the heavy artillery of an Iowa summer storm, the thunder of Wednesday night was as the noise of a penny pop-gun.

James V. Neuman has been suffering from stomach complaint for several weeks and is now in a San Francisco hospital to give the doctors an opportunity, by careful observation, to determine the cause of the trouble.

The new home of F. A. Zane is under construction. The grading had been completed and the foundation was under way when the heavy rains of the past few days forced a cessation of the labor. The contract price of the house is $37,500.

George Bogle is building a new home on the northern line of his priperty here adjoining the Dr. Keenan place.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Ross, Jr., who have been spending several of the winter months at Palo Alto, will return to their home here on the 15th of this month.

Leslie C. Burnett has been suffering again from the effects of the numerous shell wounds received during the war. Not many men have lived after being so perforated with shell fragments as he was. He is under the care of Dr. Blood.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Audiffred, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mighalis and Mr. and Mrs. John D. Gish were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Grandi at a bridge party on Tuesday night.

The pupils of the local schoil celebrated the anniversary of Lincoln's birthday on Thursday with patriotic exercises and on Friday a large specially constructed box served as a post office for the receipt and distribution of complimentary valentines, many of which, of real artistic merit, were made by the pupils themselves.

Almost anywhere along the wood roads one may find the bursting blossoms of the trillium or wake-robin, and ferns and the foliage of numerous wild flowers push through the wet earth with startling rapidity as if to make up for the retarding influence of the frosty weather.

Mrs John D. Gish will be heard over radio K. G. O. both morning and evening of next Sunday at the special services that will feature the opening of the new organ at Trinity Episcopal church in San Francisco.

EXCAVATION BEGUN ON NEW BAKERY BUILDING

The present place of business of the bakery will be maintained by the owners for the present to serve their customers living on this side of the town. In the new structure first-class baking equipment will be installed.

SUPERVISORS IN SESSION; LARGELY ROUTINE BUSINESS

The meeting of the board of Supervisors of this county last Monday was devoted largely to the consideration of the regular monthly claims and to the consideration of the many applications for licenses to conduct soft drink places throughout the county, as provided in a recent ordinance of the board. In the latter matter the board was assisted by Sheriff T. C. McGovern and District Atorney Franklin Swart. Applications continue to flood the board for licenses, and each is given the cartful consideration of that body before a licenes is issued.

The following licenes were granted at the meeting of the board this week:

Ballhous, San Bruno; Chas. Cleaver, Salada Beach.

SEQUOIA DIVIDES WITH CAMPBELL

By Dallas Colnine

The unlimited squad lost a hard fought decision to the Campbell team last Friday night. The teams were evidently evenly matched for the score zig zagged back and forth for the entire evening. Campbell came out on the long end of the score 27-21. Capt. Foley was there as usual with his tricky dribbling and defensive work. Armond Drivon was removed from the game on fouls but he gave a good account of himself while he lasted. The unlimited team has about a month of post season playing scheduled.

The 130-pound squad will hang up their uniforms after the San Mateo game. The thirtys came through with a victory over the Campbell aggregation, winning by a score of 14-8. Capt. Feely was high point man for Sequoia and did some fine work on defense. The whole team functioned well in every way although they missed a bunch of set ups, because they were not used to the standard of refereeing they received.

LOCAL COUPLE WED

Miss Lenoa Clark and Dewey Granger, both of this city, were married in San Jose last Wednesday, and are now making their home in the Benson house on Bradford street The bride is the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Clark and was a student of the local schools. The groom is employed as a mechanic at the "Y" Service Station at San Carlos.

Reversal of Usual Order

The sloth, a purely arboreal animal of Central and South America, practically spends its life upside down. These animals hang head down in the trees and rarely leave them.

REDWOOD CITY FIRM ADOPTS PROFIT SHARING

The George H. Rice Abstract of Title Company of this city entered into agreement with its employees to date from he first of January to conduct the business on a profit-sharing basis. Mr. C. M. Doxsee, owner and manager, called his thirteen employees into conference last week and informed them that half of the profits of the business was to be their portion and their increased earnings would be given them at stated periods in addition to their regular salaries.

The Rice Abstract Company did a big volume of business last year and is keeping up its record so far this year.

Mr. Doxsee is to be congratulated upon the liberal manner in which he treats those who are associated in business him. If there were more employers throughout the country who took the thought of their employees that he does there would be little chance of indusrial unrest.

REDWOOD CITY AND VICINITY HAS GREATER TELEPHONE FACILITIES THAN PEKING

The territory comprising Redwood City's telephone exchange and which includes Redwood City, San Carols, Woodside and Atherton has more telephones in proportion to its population than has Peking, the storied capital of China, with more than a million inhabitants within its great walls. Redwood City has 1500 telephones while the Chinese metropolis has but 32,000, or about one to each 3100 persons, stated J. D. Worthington, manager for the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, in this district today.

The Chinese are beginning to feel the need of more telephone facilities, and a new branch telephone exchange, to serve some 1,500 telephone lines, is being installed in the southern part of Peking, according to word recently received here.

"Chinese in the old country do not take readily to new inventions," said Worthington. "This is a direct contrast to the attitude of members of the race who have settled in America. The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company's famous Chinatown telephone exchange, located on Washington street, in San Francisco, has its own telephone book, printed in Chinese, and serves 1,582 telephone users. Chinese subscribers find this telephone indispensable in trasacting their varied businesses and use local and long distance telephone service constantly.

Paul Romero, 28, 116 Pine street, this city, with his two young sisters, Mercedes, 14, and Pearl 12, and a third girl, Dorothy Filomena, 15, miraculously escaped death Wednesday night when the automobile in which they were riding ran off the state highway in the storm and overturned in San Francisquito creek, which divides San Mateo and Santa Clara counties.

Aside from a thorough wetting, the four were unharmed. Romero said he was driving at a moderate rate of speed during the height of the rainstorm when his lights went out. Unable to see in the blinding rain, he attempted to stop. Before he could, the car ran off the highway and toppled into the creek.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

NO man of history has been so much before the public eye this past week as has Abraham Lincoln. His memory has been the subject of addresses. His good deeds and noble life have formed themes for numberless articles, but all of the great things said and written have not approximated in any way the real greatness of this wonderful man.

As we have read of him we believe that his greatness lay in his simplicity. His mind matured and his body grew to great stature, but his heart was always the heart of a boy. He never forgot his early friends his first surroundings or the principles learned at his mother's knee.

He saved a nation from breaking and freed a million human beings from bondage but history will record the fact that he pardoned boys from hanging wrote letters to mothers who had lost their boys in battle and did countless other things which history will tell about after his other bigger things are forgotten.

As an observer stands in the wonderful monument building for him in the National Capital and looks at the marble countenance cast in heroic mould, he is struck with the sublimity of Lincoln's expression. His features were not of classic delineation but there is a benignity about them that makes his face almost beautiful. As one reads the expressions which he uttered in speeches, in commonplace conversation and which he wrote in letters, this same beauty shines forth. And yet the simple thoughts are the ones that strike us most forcibly.

His Gettysburgh address which is one of the five speeches of history is great because it is worded so that anyone can understand it. It is supposed to be the best example of correct English ever written, and when the great emancipator spoke the words he felt that he had utterly failed in his task of giving a worthwhile speech.

So that you may not forget it we want to close this with Lincoln's Gettysburgh address:

"Fourscore and seven years ago our fathers brought forth upon this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

"Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation, so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a finel resting place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

"But in a larger sense we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our power to add or detract. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather, to be dedicated to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us; that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom; and that government of the people, by the people and for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

PASS THIS ONE ALONG

THEN we come across a piece of poetry that pleases us we like to pass it on to our friends. Here's one by Eugene Field that we never saw until this week. It was written to "His Grandmother." Pin it in your lunch box.

"I pray that risen from the dead,
I may in glory stand,
A crown perhaps upon my head,
But a needle in my hand.

I've never learned to sing or play,
So let no harp be mine;
From birth unto my dying day
Plain sewing's been my line.

Therefore, accumtomed to the end
To plying useful stitches,
I'll be content if asked to mend.
The little angel's breeches"

THE SIMPLE AND THE GREAT

NOT long ago we had the rare good fortune to hear a really great singer. Her voice was in perfect tune and the evidence of culture was to be noted in every trill and run. She sang her arrias and matched the notes of the flute with an easiness that brought forth applause that was unstinted.

She sang from the grand old masters of Italy and of France, and fairly captured her audience then as the recalls continued she came to the front of the stage and sang "Annie Laurie" and then "Home Sweet Home."

There was not the volume in the applause for these but all over the audience there were tears in the eyes and in the throats of the hearers. The last songs are perhaps not great ones but because of their simplicity they will live when many of the grand old masters are forgotten.

The great things of life are not the ones that tug at our heart strings and stir our emotions to want to be good and do good. It is the simple familar thing that inspires us to our best efforts. We would soon become surfeited with an ocean of wonderful things, but a trickling spring is a thing of beauty and a joy forever and gives refreshment at all times.

"THE DEVIL'S CARGO" ACTION STORY OF CALIFORNIA IN 1850

Life in the early California gold camps was not merely a series of fistic brawls, lynchings, and battles with Indians. Every man was particular to attend strictly to his own business.

This information was gleaned by Victor Fleming during the production of his latest Paramount picture, "The Devil's Cargo," due next Monday and Tuesday, February 16 and 17 at the Sequoia Theatre. The story is laid in Sacramento in 1850.

"Life in the gold camps was unusually quiet," one old-timer told Fleming. "An argument always ended in a few moments with one of the debaters being carried away feet first with a few chunks of hot lead in his ribs. Everyone knew this and everyone was careful about mixing into another's affairs."

"The Devil's Cargo," adapted for the screen by A. P. Younger from the story, "The River Boat," by Charles Whittaker, duplicates the little, pioneer town of Sacramento as it really was seventy-five years ago. Victor Fleming during the production of stage coach.

Cut off from the rest of the world, the only comunication with neighboring San Francisco being by means of stage coach.

At the time of the story the citizens have banded together in a vigilance comittee bent on driving out of the town many undesirables. A young fellow, John Joyce, comes to Sacramento to edit the town's only paper for the advancement of the cause of the vigilantes. He meets and falls desperately in love with Faro Sampson, daughter of the proprietor of the most notoriaus saloon in the camp. That puts him in bad with the vigilantes and things wind up with his being deported with the others on the river boat.

The boilers on the old ramshackle blow up. Many of the passengers land safely at San Francisco, but Joyce, his sister Martha, and Faro with several others and the crew are swept seaward.

McCUTCHEON AUTHOR OF UNIVERSAL FILM

Best Seller Is Vehicle of Denny-La Plante Combination

Having a proposal to the girl he loves interrupted by the sheriff—arived to arrest him on a charge of impersonating another woman's husband—that's the bump in the course of true love of Reginald Denny, in his new comedy-thriller, "The Fast Worker," in which he will co-star with Laura La Plante next Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 18 and 19 at the Sequoia Theatre. And the two women are sisters, too. More complications!

The situation is really something new in fiction, it was conceived by the ingenious George Barr McCutcheon, author of "The Husbands of Edith," from which the new Universal Jewel was adapted.

Denny plays with Laura La Plante as the principal feminine charcter, and it is the first time the two have appeared together since their sensational success in "Sporting Youth." The story is crammed with thrills—a mad motor dash to escape for a honeymoon, a spectacular collision with a run-away truck, and other bits of excitement, alternated with the volunteer's "father's" abortive attempts to feed his small daughter—for Denny is hero who takes a friend's identity as a favor—and then finds himself saddled with a "wife" and "daughter" in consequence.

Ethel Grey Terry plays the wife in the case and Richard Tucker, the husband, who in order to remain incognito and wage a financial fight induces the other man to take on the temporary responsibility of his name and family. The hero upsets wagging tongues when he falls in love with his unmarried "sister-in-law."

The cast includes such favorites as Margaret Campbell, John Stepling, T. D. Crittenden and Clarissa Selwynne; Lee Moran, the comedian, plays an eccentric character comedy role.

OLD TIMERS TO BEGIN SATURDAY EVENING DANCES

The first of the Saturday evening dances to be given by the Old Timers Club will be held this evening at the Foresters hall. These dances, like the Wednesday evening dances given by the same club, will be strictly old fashioned.

The Old Timers have been conducting Wednesday evening dances at the Foresters hall for over a year, and the success that they have met in this line has encouraged them to have two old-fashioned dances a week this year. The Hydenaber orchestra will continue to furnish their uniformly good music on Wednesday evenings, and for the Saturday evening affairs the Backstedt's orchestra has been secured. This organization is well konwn here having played at many of the dances given by the Native Sons during the past twenty years.

Cleaning Without Odor by the
F. Thomas Process
Our many years of experience has taught us that it is impossible to do perfect cleaning with cheap, inferior methods. That is why we found it necessary to invest nearly $500,000 in the equipment of a plant and the establishment of an expert organization to do the quality of work demanded by our customers.
With the "F. Thomas Process" we not only remove every particle of dust but we return your garments without that usual disagreeable smell of gasoline. Every drop of gasoline we use in cleaning is redistilled and very highly refined.
Raw gasoline—the kind that you buy for your automobile—is full of heavy oils and unfit for cleaning fabrics. It is little better than ordinary distillate and leaves a sickening "gasoline" smell in your clothes

LEGISLATIVE LETTER

By C. W. TURNER

Sacramento.—There were pending in the senate when that body recessed, twenty bills relating directly to agriculture; in the assembly there are twenty-seven. In both houses there is one concurrent resolution of interest to farmers.

The first measure in the assembly is Bill 102 which appropriates $50,000 for eradicating camel's thorne. Bill 166 is of the same character aimed at citrus white fly, and proposes to proclaim "white fly" districts within which all plants that are hosts of the white fly are to be declared public nuisances. Bill 167 would declare certain districts set aside for raising of Acala cotton, and forbid planting of any other in those districts. Bill 168 provides for certification of cotton seed by the director of agriculture. Bill 169, regulates the transportation and sale of poultry. Bill 179 and Bill 181 provide for liens on seed, twine, etc., sold to farmers. These and similar measures introduced into the senate by Boggs are strongly opposed by the agricultural legislative committee composed of thirty-two commodity organizations, claiming to represent 70,000 agriculturalists doing a business of $200,000,000 annually. The Boggs' bills are numbered Senate Files 97 to 101 inclusive. They give liens upon livestock, until feed bought for it is paid for; and grain for twine, etc., used in harvesting and bagging it; and so on through the list. The farmers' committee believe such a law would seriously hamper the farmer, as any one buying any of his products would have to be certain that there was no lien upon them. There does not seem much chance that those bills will any of them pass, but the farmers interested can communicate with their senator and assemblyman on the subject and give them their views.

Assembly Bill 202 defines brokers and salesmen who handle farm products and provides for their licensing by the state agricultural department. Bill 203 is along the same lines as 202 although the former was introduced by Assemblyman Jost and the latter by Assemblyman Cleveland. The second bill regulates the control of commission merchants, and their licensing. Bill 218 and Bill 480 are measures to establish a second state agricultural fair in southern California. Bill 225 is similar in purpose as are many of its provisions to 202 and 203. Bill 416 and Bill 940 are standardization measures governing apples. Bill 454 provides for the standardization of grain. Bill 550 is an amendment to the law providing for co-operative marketing. Bill 665 regulates smudging and orchard heating, and Bill 671 regulates the shipping of citrus fruits damaged by frost. Bill 705 proposed to regulate the inspection and care of bee hives, and bees.

Bill 706 is rather unique, since it would have the state join with the federal government on a fifty-fifty basis in leasing and maintaining a leased wire from San Francisco to El Centro via Fresno and Los Angeles for the use and benefit of the farmers.

Bill 708 provides the method and funds for eradication of noxious weeds hurtful to agriculture. Bill 722 proposes to standardize olives and regulate their canning and packing and Bill 571 covers the same ground with regard to all other canned fruits. Bill 856 is aimed at the prevention of frauds in connection with agricultural seeds.

Bill 992 appropriates money to study the alleged dangers of infection and the spread of disease from rodents during the next two years, report to be made to the next session of the legislature.

Bill 1043 regulates the marketing of grapes; and Bill 1092 would prevent the introduction of agricultural pests into the state through means of containers, or other agricultural commodities.

The senate agricultural bills besides those referred to, as introduced by Senator Boggs, are Number 11, making appropriations for county fairs; Number 125, making an appropriation for a grand stand at the Sacramento state fair grounds. Number 171 is a southern state fair bill, similar to those pending in the assembly above referred to. Number 172 provides for a seed inspection laboratory in Los Angeles.

Number 227 provides for a permanent exhibit on the state fair grounds in Sacramento. Number 309 and Number 312 provide additional regulations for the inspection of live stock.

Number 321 would hold citrus fairs in San Francisco; 422 is a fruit standardizing measure, while 468 provides for research work with citrus fruits at the state university.

Number 495 is similar to assembly Bill 665. Bill ROY provides methods for dealing with abandoned orchards.

Number 538 is an elaborate measure to be known as "The Bovine Tuberculosis Law," and 539 provides for the payment for slaughtered cattle when killed under the regulations of 538.

Captain Lowell H. Smith, of American around-the-world flight fame, was given an airplane by L. C. Brand, Glendale capitalist, for the consideration of "valient service rendered his country."

HOUSEHOLD PLANS AND SUGGESTIONS

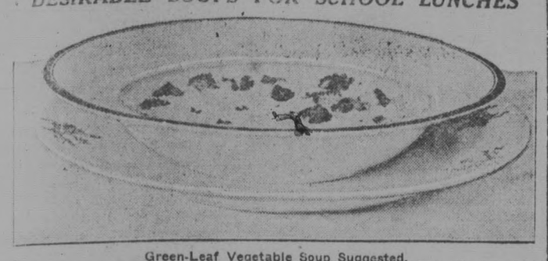
DESIRABLE SOUPS FOR SCHOOL LUNCHES



Green-Leaf Vegetable Soup Suggested.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Soups that supply a large amount of vitamines are desirable for school lunches, served in the classroom. The United States Department of Agriculture suggests the following recipe, which includes milk undiluted with water, green-leaf vegetables so finely chopped that they need little cooking, and bread crumbs, which absorb the juices of the greens and also serve to thicken the soup. Onion juice or lemon juice is used to improve the flavor and to supply vitamine C.

4 to 8 ounces greens (lettuce, spinach, green cabbage leaves, cress, or young onions with tips).
1 thin slice onion, unless onions are used as the green.
2 ounces or 2 large slices of bread, preferably without crusts, or 2 ounces (½ to 1 cupful) of bread crumbs.
1 teaspoonful salt.
1 tablespoonful butter or fat.

Wash and dry the greens, and put them through the food chopper with the bread and onion, using the finest blade. If the greens are cut or torn into small pieces and mixed with the crumbs, the bread is not so likely to form hard masses. A little of the bread should be put through last to push out the greens. Add the chopped greens and bread to the milk, and if practicable let stand a half hour or more to soften the bread. Heat to boiling point and cook for about two minutes. Add the fat and salt. A tablespoonful of lemon juice improves the flavor and somewhat increases the amount of vitamine.

Old spinach may need to be cooked in a little water before the milk is added. Whenever part milk and part water must be used in making the soup, the greens should be cooked in the water first, but only long enough to soften them. This amount will serve six portions.

STAINS MAY EASILY BE ERASED AT HOME

Employ Reliable Methods and Act Promptly.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Most stains may be removed easily at home, provided reliable methods are known and a few simple precautions are taken. Prompt home treatment is necessary with some stains in order to save the article in question from being ruined, and in most cases it is desirable, since all stains are removed more easily when fresh.

The nature of a stain should be known, if possible, before its removal is attempted, since this determines the treatment to be adopted, the bureau of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture points out. If an unsuitable stain remover is used, the stain may be "set" so that its removal becomes difficult or even impossible. For example, if hot water, which easily removes most fresh fruit stains, is applied to stains containing protein, such as stains of milk, blood, eggs or meat juice, it coagulates the albumin in the fibers of the cloth and makes it extremely difficult to remove the stain. Similarly, soap, which aids in the removal of grease spots, sets many fruit stains.

The kind of fabric upon which the stain occurs also should be known. The method of treatment adopted depends as much upon the nature, color, weave, finish and weight of the fabric as upon the kind of stain. Cotton, linen, wool and silk each require special treatment in certain cases. Details of these various methods of handling different stains will be furnished by the United States Department of Agriculture.

In general, hot water should be avoided in treating unknown stains until after other substances have been tried; but for certain stains prompt application of boiling water poured from a teakettle held at a height of three or four feet above the stain is very effective. This is a good method to use on white or fast-colored material for most fresh fruit stains when still moist. Peach and berry stains usually respond well to this treatment. The stained material should be stretched over a bowl or other vessel and the boiling water poured upon it from a height sufficient for the water to strike the stain with some force. With some stains, especially those in which fruit pulp is present, a little rubbing alternated with applications of boiling water is helpful. A stain remaining after this treatment frequently can be bleached by hanging the wet material in the sun to dry.

The stains of cooked fruits are somewhat different in character from those of fresh fruit and are usually easier to remove. Ordinary laundering is often all that is necessary. The boiling water treatment can be tried for stains made by the dark red and purple fruits and berries, such as cranberries and black raspberries

Blancmange Is Flavored Milk With Cornstarch

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Blancmange is practically flavored milk jellied with cornstarch, arrow root, Irish moss, or some similar material. When gelatin is used, without eggs, to stiffen the milk, the result is sometimes called "ivory" or "velvet" pudding. A blancmange or ivory pudding into which egg whites have been folded is often called a "snow" pudding. All of these puddings are excellent served alone, with plain or whipped cream, or with stewed or crushed fresh fruit poured over them. Maple sirup and honey are good when other sauces are not in hand.

Butterscotch Blancmange.

1 cupful brown sugar.
1 tablespoonful butter.

Heat the milk in the double boiler. Moisten the cornstarch in a little cold milk, add, stir until thick, and cook until the starchy taste disappears. In another saucepan melt the brown sugar with the butter until it is waxy, but not caramelized. Add this to the cornstarch mixture and add salt and vanilla. Cool, and serve with cream.

Proportions of Food

It is well to know what proportions to use of the foods in each of the five groups, the United States Department of Agriculture points out. As a rule, the diet will be sufficiently bulky and flavorful and will furnish the right proportions of starch, fat, and sugar for the taste of most people if the vegetables and fruits furnish about 20 per cent of the fuel; the milk, meat, eggs, and similar foods, 20 per cent; the cereal foods, 30 per cent; sweets, 10 per cent; and fats and fat foods, 20 per cent. A diet made up on these proportions will also furnish satisfactory kinds and amounts of protein, mineral substances, and vitamins.

CONSIDER FIBER IN JUDGING TEXTILES

Many Fine Points Should Be Given Consideration.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Color, design or passing fashion should not be the only considerations when purchasing a textile fabric, according to the bureau of home economics of the United States Department of Agriculture. Among the many points that should be given due weight is whether the fiber in the fabric is that which is desired and for which the purchase price is paid. A cheap fiber is not necessarily a poor investment if the purchaser knows what she is getting, if the material suits her purpose, and if the price is right considering the quality.

Different Fibers.

Cotton may be chosen for its low cost, ease of laundering, coolness and durability; mercerized cotton because it combines durability and beauty with low cost; linen for its absorptive properties, its resistance to soil, its beauty and durability; wool for its warmth; silk for its great beauty and durability; and artificial silk, now being called "rayon" by a large group of manufacturers, for its lower cost and extreme luster.

Mixtures of fibers may be desirable in cases where wearing quality has not been too greatly sacrificed in order to lower cost. Mixtures of wool and cotton may launder better than wool alone, although in some cases the difference in shrinkage of the two fibers is disastrous. It is better to test such union materials by washing or steaming a sample before the purchase is made.

Moreover, there are different grades of cotton, linen and the other kinds of fibers. An exact study would compare structure, breaking strength and many other characteristics of each sample, but length, which is an important factor, can be easily noted. The longer the fiber, the easier it is held in the yarn and the smoother and less easily soiled is the fabric woven from it.

Cotton fiber may be from four-fifths to one-half inch in length, and is therefore a short fiber at best.

Wool Fibers Vary.

Wool fibers vary from one to eight inches in length. Regenerated wool is made from scraps from tailor shops, garment factories and the like, and from old materials sold as rags. These are all properly disinfected, cleaned, torn apart and respun. Such fiber is likely to be broken and shorter than new wool, although this is not necessarily the case.

Silk is ordinarily a long fiber, but as in the case of the other fibers, the short ones, twisted into spun silk, are used for cheaper fabrics.

"Belles-Lettres"

Formerly the expression "Belles-Lettres" was sometimes used as the equivalent to the humanities, but it is now applied rather vaguely to literary works of style, taste and imagination —in other words, "polite literature." The term has no recorded use in English before 1710, when it was used by Swift in the Tatler.

WESTERN BANKERS TO HEAR REYNOLDS

Chicago Financier Will Speak at San Francisco Conference February 20.

Geroge M. Reynolds, chairman of the Board of Directors of the Continental and Commercial National Bank of Chicago, will answer the question: "What is the basis for business confidence?" when he addresses delegates at the banquet to be held in San Francisco, when the Western Regional Savings Conference of the American Bankers Association concludes its two day meeting in San Francisco, February 19 and 20.

The selection of Geo. M. Reynolds to deliver the final talk of the Conference, is the culmination of as diversified a program as has been prepared for any bankers' gathering in this country. The activities will start Wednesday, February 18, when the American Institute of Banking holds a public speaking contest, at which a representative of each of the organization's chapters in the eleven western states will be asked to participate. The subject chosen for the speakers is: "How Savings Banking Helps the Community." The winner of this contest will be invited to address one of the general sessions of the convention. A suitable trophy will be presented to the winners of first and second place. E. V. Krick, president of the National Institute organization, is in charge of all arrangements for the contest.

Arrangements have been made for the reception and registration of all delegates, at the St. Francis Hotel, official headquarters for the convention. Immediately, an opportunity will be given to view the specially arranged exhibit of bank appliances This display, an unique feature of the convention, will include not only specimens of various mechanical devices for improving the internal practices of bank administration, but also a number of the latest specialties, successfully used in the development of new business. The exhibit will be kept open during the conference and will be located in a room adjoining the convention hall.

The sessions themselves will be devoted to the program subjects, with short quizzes following. A theatre party has been arranged for the evening of February 19—Thursday—and each visiting delegate will be supplied with tickets. During the day special arrangements have been made to provide for the entertainment of the wives of delegates. Sight-seeing tours, teas and luncheons are included in the items of interest.

An interesting event planned for the women, Friday evening, is a dinner at one of the most popular Chinese cafes, to be followed by a trip through Chinatown.

The program of speakers for the conference includes:

Peanut Butter Souffle Good With Tomato Sauce

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

3-8 cupful peanut butter.
¼ teaspoonful onion juice.
1 cupful soft, stale bread crumbs.
1 teaspoonful salt.
3 eggs.

Mix together the first five ingredients, add the well-beaten yolks of the eggs and fold in the stiffly-beaten whites. Pour the mixture into a buttered baking dish and cook in a moderate oven for about 20 minutes. If desired, water and a little lemon juice may be used instead of the tomato. Serve the souffle with tomato sauce made as follows:

2 tablespoonfuls butter or other fat.
1 teaspoonful salt.

Melt the butter, add the flour, and cook for about a minute. Add the tomato juice and salt and stir the sauce until it thickens. Either skim milk or water flavored with tomato catsup may be used instead of the tomato juice in making this sauce, says the United States Department of Agriculture.

EARTHQUAKES TOPIC AT KIWANIS CLUB LUNCHEON

Dr. Bailey Willis, professor emeritus of geology of Stanford University, was the speaker at the Kiwanis Club luncheon Tuesday. Dr. Willis spoke on earthquake-proof building construction. The talk was a very timely one, coming as it did on the morning after the tremor which awoke the citizens of this city from their sleep Monday night.

Earthquakes will continue in this section, Dr. Willis stated, although another serious shock such as the one in 1907 or 1867 will not probably come for twenty or thirty years.

Interest in the local service club is growing and an enthusiastic attendance is present at each of the meetings. The club has been divided into four teams for the purpose of running an attendace contest, the team with the lowest percentage of attendance to supply a banquet to the highest team.

At Tuesday's meeting short talks were made by Frank K. Towne and Elmore B. Hinman in behalf of the chamber of commerce. Charles Lambert spoke in behalf of the Boy Scouts who are to hold a rally at San Mateo today and tomorrow, and was responsible for a collection being taken amounting to $21.50 to buy a case of butter for the boys.

The production of a burlesque show was discussed and the matter placed in the hands of B. E. Myers and Otis M. Carrington.

NEWS OF MENLO PARK

The romance of Miss Walta Katherine and Williams S. Threlkeld that culminated in marriage last Wednesday at the Palace Hotel had its inception here where both young people were interested in the annual circus given in aid of the Stanford Home for convalescent children. They met through mutual love of blue blooded horses. They took a deep interest in horse shows. The talented young woman is an equestrienne of state wide reputation and no horse show was complete unless she was among the riders.

Not only is she a skillful horsewoman, but a noted beauty as well. She is highly accomplished and talented and posses a sweet and charming manner that has won her a host of friends both in San Francisco and the peninsula. The young woman always maintained a string of horses here at her father's country home which she brought from the Linforth ranch in Santa Clara county. From childhood she took an interest in horses. As a mere girl she attracted attention in riding through Menlo Park on her prancing coal black steed. She was the envy of other society girls.

Her father, Walter H. Linforth, is the leader of the bar of San Francisco. The Linforths live here during the summer months spending the winter at their appartments at the Palace hotel.

Leo J. Dunn, son of Mrs. Worrell of Stanford Park, was operated upon in the Marin hospital in San Francisco Tuesday. Late reports from the institution indicate that the young man is recovering and will soon be convalescent. Mr. Dunn is chief engineer on the cutter Vaughn now at San Diego.

Next week wreckers will begin work on the old Fremont theatre building. When the historic structure is razed, Phenix-like a new and modern bank building will rise from the site. It is to be forty feet in length on the highway and 60 feet on Santa Cruz avenue and two stories in height. It will be a credit to Menlo Park.

Active work on the Dumbarton bridge is progressing rapidly, large piles are being driven daily. The piles are shipped down the bay in barges from the Moore ship yards. The contractors feel certain the bridge will be completed this year.

W. K. Martin, a resident of this place for the past two years, passed away early Thursday morning, following a lingering illness. An operation was performed recently but it brought no relief. The deceased was a native of Contra Costa county, where he had been engaged in farming before coming to Menlo Park. Mr. Martin was a man of high ideals and integrity. All who knew him, loved him. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and interment is to be in Alta Mesa cemetery. Mr. Martin is survived by his widow and only son, K. L. Martin, the local plumber and contractor.

The rain storm during the week was a welcome visitor to this section. It insures a good water supply for next summer. There was very close to an inch of water fell, making a total of 9.40 inches for the season. There is a big head of water in the San Francisquito creek, the Atherton creek is flowing, and all streams hereabouts are swollen. The Bear Gulch lake is filled and is overflowing, while the Stanford lake is rapidly filling. The Searsville dam is overflowing. This resort is certain to do a brisk business next summer with such a beautiful body of water, surrounded with unexcelled scenery. The section is destined to be the playgrounds for San Francisco, a place where tired people may come to rest and secure inspiration and hope under the wide-spreading branches of the massive trees close to the placid waters of the lake.

Irving F. Dunn of Menlo Park has entered the importing and exporting business in San Francisco with offices at 24 California street. He has severed his conections with George W. Reed Company, brokers.

The alumni of St. Joseph's school held an important meeting in Native Sons hall Thursday evening. After the business of the meeting a Valentine party was enjoyed by the former pupils of the well-known school. Refreshments were served by the younger members.

Tallant Tubbs of San Francisco gave a grand dinner party a few evenings ago and among those attending was Miss Mary Emma Flood.

Tuesday evening the Companions of the Forest Card Club was entertained at the home of A. W. Gale on Glenwood avenue. The clever hostess and her charming daughter, Miss Susie Gale, received the many guests delightfully, making all feel thoroughly at home. After the card game refreshments were served by the hostess.

W. E. Dale, the local merchant, has rented his bungalow on Pine street to Mrs. Price of Woodland who comes here to be near Santa Clara University, in which institution her young son has matriculated and will commute from here. Mr. Dale is to retain his apartments in the bungalow.

G. B. Cardona, an apraiser for the Bank of Italy, and P. Bergna, a retired merchant of San Francisco, who recently bought an acre of land on University Divide, near Santa Cruz avenue, are about to begin the construction of two pretty suburban homes on the property. The sale of the land was made through Mrs. Di Natali.

The Home Dairy, M. I. Piers, proprietor, furnishes milk, eggs and butter to St. Mary's College, a branch of St. Patrick's Seminary, located near Los Altos. This week Mr. Piers secured a contract to furnish milk and other products of his dairy to the latter institution. The St. Patrick's herd of cattle is to be sold. The Cardinal hotel at Palo Alto is also one of the big patrons of the Home Dairy.

The triangular strip of land containing six acres fronting on the Middlefield road, near the San Francisquito creek bridge is soon to be transformed into a parking place for automobiles. The corner on Willow road and the Middliefield road is to be leased to the Standard Oil Company for an oil station. The property was formerly owned by the Robert Mills estate. Itis now owned by the Palo Alto capitalists.

Miss Hannah O'Hearn, who passed away at Santa Clara on Thursday of last week, was a pioneer of Menlo Park, having resided here for over thirty years prior to leaving here a few years ago. She was an aunt of Miss Hannah Burke, for many years a teacher in the local school department. Miss O'Hearn was a sister of John O'Hearn of Belmont and the late Patrick O'Hearn. The deceased was laid to rest in St. John's cemetery at San Mateo last Saturday. She was a native of Ireland, aged 75 years. The greater portion of her long life was in California. Miss O'Hearn was highly esteemed and well liked by all who knew her.

Spervisor John MacBain is rocking and macadamizing Menalto avenue from Creek road to the Bay road. When completed it is to be one of the finest thoroughfares in that section. The chamber of commerce of Palo Alo is planning to have this avenue made the main artery from the Dumbarton bridge to the College City.

PRESIDENT AND "FIRST LADY" JOIN COUNTRY IN VIEWING ECLIPSE

President and Mrs. Coolidge, like the rest of the citizens, were up early to view the eclipse of the sun, each of them with a piece of smoked glass viewing the entire passing of the moon in front of the sun's face from the south grounds of the White House.

OLD FRIENDS

WHEN Peg's train gave her, after twenty years, a couple of hours to spend in the city where she had been brought up, she telegraphed three of her oldest friends to meet her at Port's, that famous old caterer's, for whose ices and frappe in her exile from the land of her birth she had so often sighed. They had all come in from the country on their receipt of Peg's message on that hot day, and Ann had actually deserted her home and family for an afternoon. There they waited, Ann and Nan and Fan, and wondered if Peg's train had been late, for they had the big place to themselves except for a stranger years younger than they, at another little round table across the room.

"I dare say that Peg isn't as quick in getting about as she used to be," suggested Nan, who was rheumatic at forty, bookish, who never walked if she could ride, and who liked her full four courses at breakfast.

"I hope she hasn't had a giddy turn, or anything of that sort," foreboded Nan, who considered herself a digestive invalid, who lived in a social whirl, who never walked if she could ride, and who picked at her food.

"Perhaps she changed her mind," said Ann, who was neurasthenic, had no tastes of her own, never walked if she could ride, and was house-kept with a cook book and a treatise on diatetics.

Just then the stranger from across the room approached them: "Is it—are you by any chance—can this be?" she hesitated, glancing from one to another of the three distinctly middle-aged and rather heavy ladies before her.

Then, when all the conventional questions had been asked and answered, Nan began: "My dear, how do you manage to look so—so active?"

"So blooming?" put in Fan.

"And so young?" ended Ann.

Peg hesitated for a moment and then she said, "I am active, and if I look blooming and young, as you say, it's for that reason. My husband and I walk ten miles in the country every Sunday."

"We believe in the habit of exercise," went on Peg, warming to her subject. "When there's skating, we're out on the ice an hour every afternoon before dinner. In summer we go swimming on hot evenings at a beach, a short ride from the city. We've fitted up our back yard as a playground for the children, and 'at our age' I'm learning to play baseball. The children are going to ride and sail, too; we ourselves haven't been able to afford that. I hope they will even fly!"

Her contemporaries slumped in upon themselves; bewildered and dull-eyed, as Peg ended: "This country must look out with all her hardheadedness if she doesn't want to become a soft nation. We can't disregard the habit of exercise and not pay the penalty."

GIRL 14 ELOPES; WEDS HERE THEN DISAPPEARS

Mystry surrounds the whereabouts of Dorothy M. Keen of South San Francisco, who started to grammar school at the usual time Wednesday morning, but got married here instead. The girl, aged 14, was living with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. M. Majica of South San Francisco, but was tired of attending school.

Dorothy came to Redwood City with Raymond C. Hays, 24, a steel worker of South San Francisco, obtained a marriage license and were married by Justice of the Peace Ray Griffin. They then left and nothing has been heard of them since.

After the wedding a note was given to the aunt by a schoolmate of the young bride, it read: "Love was life; school was drudgery." The young pair is now being sought.

"Our Employees are working for you"
When the mountains are hidden behind a swirling blanket of snow, P. G. and E. men are toiling for you up there in the freezing cold.
During severe storms wires may break under the accumulated weight of ice and snow. Poles are blown down or go over under the weight of wires covered with ice. Ice forms on the poles as thick as 12 inches, making them veritable icicles.
Climbing icicles is only one phase of the war between P. G. and E. men and the elements. Often, waist deep in icy water, men of this Company work to the limit of their endurance to keep an adequate supply of water flowing to the mountain power houses.
Consumers who turn the valves of their gas appliances in perfect confidence that immediate service will result, do not realize the unremitting toil that men of this Company perform, often at great personal danger, that this service shall be uninterrupted.
The employees of the P. G. and E. appreciate the value of good service and endeavor to do their best for customers at all times. Where customers receive service which is particularly pleasing or satisfactory, notification to the Company will be appreciated in order that the employee may be duly commended.
